

LANGUAGE TRANSLATION

We can help you communicate your health promotion message to a non-English speaking or limited English-speaking audience through pamphlet translation.

Since 1995, Journeyworks has worked with a team of expert translators who are experienced in translating health information in the most accurate and culturally appropriate manner. We have translated and adapted our materials into Spanish, Chinese, Korean and Vietnamese.

Our translators recognize the fact that within a singular language, there are often idiomatic expressions that are unique to a particular region or community. So rather than provide you with an out-of-the-box translation, we will work with you to ensure that the translated content (and accompanying graphics) are correct and appropriate for your target audience.

We will meet or beat prices on comparable projects from other publishers.
